The plot was said to have been aimed also at the Belgian and Italian simed also as the Belgian and Italian ministers if plans for the marriage were carried out. The newspaper said the police here arrested, during the past week-end, a young Italian Communist named Bierni, who was alleged to have confessed that he came to Belgium to murder the Italian minister of justice. Prof. Rocco.

He was further alleged to have dis-closed a plot to bomb the Italian royal train which is to convey King Albert and Queen Elizabeth to Italy for the wedding. As he described the plan, anarchists were to throw bombs another train which would pass is disclosed that the conception of a nonaggression pact in the Mediterranean is of French origin and was proposed by Briand at the beginning of the negotiations with Italy. Briand's idea of the pact was similar to the Pacific pact, which made the Washington agreement easier.

Briand has no desire for a Mediterranean Locarno pact in which, for example, there might be a Franco-Italian nonaggressive pact, guaranteed by Great Britain. He wants all the powers especially interested in the Mediterranean, which would in the Mediterranean, which would in a manner similar to the Pacific pact. This would permit a big cut in the French maval demands, making the French maval demands, making the French minimum below 800,000 tons of the present program and given in the great property of the pacific pact was made.

Italy at the London conference, the enlargement of the idea to cover all situations, not merely the Mediterranean is not merely the Mediterranean.

Further Guarantee of Peace.

The contention would be that by providing in this manner for a definite mechanism of consultation under the Kellogg pact, a further guarantee would be provided for reduction of armaments. Further Guarantee would be provided for reduction of armaments. Further Guarantee would be or insuce of sea law in the event war could not be averted.

The Benate probably would not ratify any treaty binding the United States ould not continue of a continuence of the provided pact, and what its attitude would be on issues of sea law in the event war could not be averted.

The contention would be that by reduction of armaments. Further Guarantee of Peace.

The contention would be that by reduction o

ment to supplement the Kellogg anti-war 'pact.

Former Secretary of State Hughes, in a speech here last April before the American Society of International Law, first publicly broached the proposal to supplement the Kellogg treaty by another, patterned after the Pacific pact, calling for "consideration and adjustment," in case of controversy arising which fails to yield to diplomatic settlement.

Hoover Emphasizes Same Point.

President Hoover emphasized in his Armistice day speech that the Kel-logg peace pact needs to be reinforced by an agreement among its signatories to meet and confer when conflict threatens. After citing the antiwar treaty, the President said: "But the machinery for Pacific settlement of disputes among nations is as yet. In-

One of the main criticisms raised

One of the main criticisms raised by the Republican isolationists against the action of this Government in concerting with others to exert pressure of world opinion upon Russia and China to observe the antwarpact, is that the Kellogg treaty authorizes no such action. This admitted deficiency would be supplied by a general pact like the Pacific treaty which provides that:

"If there should develop between any of the high contracting parties a controversy arising out of any pacific question and involving their said rights, which is not satisfactorily settled by diplomacy and is likely to affect the harmonious accord now happily subsisting between them, they shall invite the other high contracting parties to a joint conference to which the whole subject will be referred for consideration and admiration admiration and admir

The Senate added a reservation that the treaty makes no commitment to armed force, no alliance and no obligation to join in any defense. By a simple rewording of this model it could be made a corollary to the Kellogg pact, in the opinion of administration officials, and if the the President's being brought into the controversy. Instead, they have seemed to defend him. Their atti-tude, both that of Walsh, of Mon-tans, and Caraway, toward Lakin and Shattuck has been not towards involving the President further, but criticizing these two men for using the President's name.

These two men had no business bandying the President's name about in the way they did. That has been the attitude of Caraway and Walsh

But from the other end of the Capitol a Democratic voice has been heard, that of Representative Garner, the Democratic leader. He says that if Smith had been elected and his name had come out in the manner that Hoover's has, there would have been talk of impeachment 'ere now. And Garner got an immediate rise out of the Republicans. Representative Will Wood, chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, replied saying that in the first place Mr. Hoover had not talked with the low tariff sugar lobbyists and in the second place that if he had, what was wrong about it? That there is to be a truce over the holidays between the two warring camps was answered in the negative yesterday when Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, took up the Garner fight.

Mr. Shouse declared that Mr. Wood's executive committee, took up the Garner fight.

Mr. Shouse declared that Mr. Wood's explanation must be taken as the "correct exposition of the President's position."

Plan of Attack Uncertain.

But the fact remains that everything that Shattuck did; everything that Lakin did; and if the President had anything to do with it all, was absolutely in conformity with the desires of the Democrats.

They are the ones who wanted to save the housewife, the ones who wanted to cultivate her as she stirred her cup of coffee in the morning in her neglige, and in her most impressionable mood.

Just how they expect to make capital out of the Republicans who thought as they did, is not yet quite 'In the light of the Wood defense." "In the light of the Wood defense," said Shouse, "a more comprehensive attatement from the White House is required. In the Shattuck-Lakin correspondence certain definite assertions were made, among them, that Shattuck had been retained to get tariff rates satisfactory to Cuba because of his intimacy with and influence on President Hoover.

"Moreover, the report of Lakin to the President of Cuba specifically complains that Senator Smoot would not cooperate with the Cuban lobby, though the President had directed and cans, through their congressional campaign committee, have set up a counter barrage.

But getting back to the Democrats' apparent plan of making much over the Lakin letters, observers are purled as to just how they plan to proceed.

As a matter of plain fact, it was the understanding among newspapermen, though, of course, they may have been under the wrong impression, that Shattuck evolved the proposed sliding scale of sugar tariff by which the tariff would go up whenever sugar was low and down whenever sugar was low and down whenever it was high, and the understanding was that he had told Mr. Hoover about this and in turn, had been told to submit it to Senator Smoot.

At the time it was looked upon as a way out for the President in the big sugar fight, something that would satisfy both the producers and the consumers, the formula which he had previously expressed himself as hoping to arrive at.

Defense of his advocacy of retaining hides on the free list in the pending tariff bill was made by Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough, of Maryland, in an announced letter to the Baltimore Drovers & Traders Journal, of Baltimore, clarifying his position after disagreeing comment in that publication.

"You concede that to take cattle hides from the free list, where they have been for the past 95 years with the exception of the Dingley bill of 1898, would result in some increase in the price of shoes," declared Senator Goldsborough. "How slight that increase would be may be gathered from a brief filed February 21 with the House ways and means committing the thouse ways and means committing the to the effect that to place cattle hides upon the dutiable list would boost oursenational shoe bill many hundreds of smillions of dollars if only because of pyramided prices."

Fess to Press Pending Bill at Present Session to Aid Program.

CARRIERS TO TAKE TIME

Prospects for early congressiona malderation of legislation to facilitate general railroad consolidation were raised yesterday, following the promulgation Saturday by the Inter-state Commerce Commission of a state Commerce Commission of a specific plan for wholesale unification of the country's transport system.

Senator Peas (Republican), Ohio, who has a rail consolidation bull pending, announced that he would preas it for action this session in the belief that new law is necessary to clear away obstacles to the program.

The Peas ster represented the only clear away obstacles to the program.

The Fess step represented the only additional approach to the subject yesterday in official circles. Railroad commentators were a unit in expecting that no programs are likely to be presented soon from carrier quarters looking toward the linking of any group of carreirs under the plan. It was pointed out that the legal and operating staffs of all carriers must have weeks for study of the details: operating staffs of all carriers in have weeks for study of the det that only three or four raili groups in the country are actu seeking to take advantage of present provisions of law permit consolidation; and that the comi sion plan seriously modifies all rail merger projects that have a actually advanced.

Views of Carriers to Be Sought. Views of Carriers to Be Sought.

Purther, it was rather the opinion of railroad executives that the commission would now elicit the views of the 'carrier' representatives on its plans, by some series of open hearings or conferences, though none of these has been called. Some persons closely associated with railroad and banking plans were in the to consider that years might elapse before any substantial portion of the raillines treated by the plan would be put into shape for actual grouping. The initiative in merger action, it was pointed out, is not with the Government but with heads of railroads.

Government but with heads of railroads.

In the manifold provisions of the Fess bill, some semicompulsory powers would be given the Commerce Commission to bring about consolidations, but railroad lawyers familiar with its terms expressed doubt that these would seriously change the situation. Railroad groups must actually propose consolidation in any particular instance, even should the Fess bill pass, and unless its provisions are sharply altered, the Government would be without power to order merger.

Additional Provisions Studied.

Speaking of the Interstate Commission's program, Huddleston said this country is "possessed of a big-business complex."

"The only people interested in these proposed railroad mergers are stock speculators." he said, "who hope to profit financially from consolidations, and railroad executives who nexturally want to become as high

(Associated Press.)

William Kellogg, Minneapolis grain man, has been selected to manage the National Grain Corporation, central sales agency of the Grain Cooperative Association, organized with a view to marketing eventually 60 per cent of the grain produced in the United States.

Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, yesterday said the board was sympathetic toward the action of the corporation already taken in buying wheat on the Chicago grain exchange, and that more storage space was available at present than had been thought possible a month ago.

Some of the grain now being purchased, he said, probably would go into the export trade.

(Associated Press.)
Lying under a blanket of snow that ranged in thickness from inches to feet, most of the Central and North-ern portions of the United States, except the Pacific Northwest, looked forward to celebrating a white Christ-mas.

Until last night, when temperatures began to rise, it looked as though the white Christmas might extend into the South, too, almost to the Guif of Mexico.

Warmer weather, however, turned the snow—il inches deep as far South as Shrevsport, La.—into siush, and it was predicted that none would be left by tonight.

Storms Wreak Havoc.

Most of the country today will be digging itself out of the havoc caused by storms. There was no snow in the Facilic Northwest, but there was heavy rain and severe damage, and railroads and telephone companies experienced losses mounting to many thousands of dollars in the unaccustomed visit of cold and snow to the South.

Sleet Stings New York.

In New York City, siest followed the snow, turning it to slush and making motor traffic slow and hazardous. There was enough snow, however, to give the street cleaning department a chance to try out its new chemical outfit that sprays calitium chloride on the snow and meits it.

The cold and blizzard that extended generally over the South, east of the Rockies, with the exception of Florids and a narrow fringe along the Gulf of Mexico, broke records, extending back as far as 1876.

There was 17 inches of snowfall near Eidorado, Ark; 11 inches at Shreveport, La.; 10 inches at Greenville, in the delta section; 8 inches at Chattanooga. Tenn., and heavy licies hanging from trees at Ablants.

PEACE IN MANCHURIA.

The Russo-Chinese protocol signed at Khabarovsk, Siberia, is at least a definite step in the direction of peace in Manchuria. It may be many a weary month before final terms are agreed upon at the forthcoming Soviet-Chinese conference and there may be further outbreaks along the border. But the fact that the Soviet and Mukden authorities have been able to agree upon a preliminary protocol is an encouraging sign.

Since the initial controversy months ago confidence has been expressed by statesmen who understand the Far East that China and the Soviet would settle their dispute without resort to war if the other powers would keep hands off and let the two nations deal with each other in their own way. Neither country wanted war or was in a position to wage war. The Japanese. who had the advantage of reliable information from Russia as well as from China, took a firm and unalterable stand from the outset in favor of a handsoff policy.

It was feared by the Japanese that if any power or group of powers sought to intervene or even to exert moral influence the difficulties incident to peaceful adjustment would be immeasurably increased. There was a possibility of provoking a serious conflict unless outside powers refrained from meddling with a delicate international matter. China would have resented any interference from foreign nations unless it appeared to be in support of her stand, and the sharp Russian reply to Secretary of State Stimson shows how deeply Soviet Russia resented even a mild suggestion from America. Fortunately the suggestion which Mr. Stimson transmitted to China and Russia was became apparent that it was doing harm to the cause of peace and might actually prevent the adjustment which China and the Soviet were putting in

By its object lesson to the world the fate that befell the effort to utilize the Kellogg pact as a means of international pressure will serve a useful purpose. It was perhaps excusable for signers of the pact to entertain the hope that as to the public's commendation. From China and Russia of their own accord would utilize the pact as a reason for not engaging in a war which they were in no position to undertake or prosecute. So long as there was no suggestion of outside pressure both China and Russia did cite the pact as a reason for desiring a peaceful settlement. It was only when the pact assumed the form of an instrument of outside pressure that the flare-up in Russia occurred.

But the Soviet and Mukden governments reached their preliminary agreement during the last week in November and the American note was received on December 2, several days after the terms had been accepted by the Chinese and Sowiet authorities. The resentment felt in Russia may have delayed the action that is now announced, but the signing of the preliminary protocol indicates that no lasting damage was done by the attempt to interfere through the medium of the Kellogg pact. It is safe to say that any statesman will hesitate a long time before he seeks to utilize the Kellogg pact as "a moral influence" in interfering with an acute controversy between two nations.

The agreement reached at Khabarovsk must be acceptable to Nanking before it can become effective. Almost anything may happen before the end of the negotiations is in sight, but the Russian and Chinese authorities, free arrests on foreign vessels within such limits and the New World.

of outside interference, are obviously sincere in trying to adjust their differences.

GERMANY'S GOOD SENSE.

The German people have administered a proper rebuke to the Nationalist party by ignoring its plebiscite for repudiation of the Treaty of Versailles and rejection of the Young plan of reparations settlement. Only 13.5 per cent of the electorate voted for the measure, whereas a majority is necessary to override a decision of the Reichstag. The voting was conducted quietly, and the rank and file of the German people showed little interest in it. Christmas shopping is reported to have attracted more attention.

The result is just what was expected. The measure met overwhelming defeat in the Reichstag and brought resignations from several leaders from the Nationalist party. Agitators hoped by fanning the flame of ancient hatred against France to induce the German people to renounce the obligations they have undertaken. But the people are too level-headed to follow after any such fanatical leadership. When the old empire was overthrown and replaced by a representative government the people set their faces toward> the goal of redeeming Germany from the mistakes of the past. They can not be diverted from that goal by any radical scheme which would place their country in jeopardy.

Adoption of the so-called "liberty law" would have meant renunciation of Germany's responsibility for the war and repudiation of all financial obligations based on that as-It also called for immediate evacuation of all German territory and would have rendered all officials of the government who did not carry out its provisions liable to prosecution for treason. Its defeat breaks down opposition to the Young plan and increases the probability that it will be put in operation by The Hague meeting next month. Failure of the referendum also has important international aspects. Adoption of the Young plan means that the finances of France, Belgium, Great Britain and Italy will be stabilized and all Europe will breathe easier. Occupation of the Rhineland will be brought to an end and the business of reconstruction in war-devastated areas can proceed on a business-like basis. Germany has taken the only sensible course. The motive which prompted the people to stay away from the polls was self-interest, but incidentally they acted in the interest of all Europe.

HELEN WILLS.

The romance of Helen Wills warms the heart of Americans. This California girl possesses a most admirable and attractive character as well as a marvelously coordinated body and brain, In popular opinion she is the most skillful woman who has ever handled a tennis racquet. Her repeated successes, culminating in the national and international amateur championships, were marked always by modest demeanor and generous attitude toward her competitors. Now Helen marries a lucky and worthy young American, and the whole country wishes them a long and happy life together.

GOOD POSTAL WORK.

A parcel mailed in Cincinnati last Saturday was delivered in Washington yesterday Burlington House by Baron Erland Nordenmorning. Under normal circumstances postal matter could not have been moved more expeditiously. Yet, in Cincinnati and in Washington, the postoffices are burdened down with the greatest volume of matter they have seen since last Christmas. The speed with which it is being handled stands as proof of the efficiency that has come to be a by-word in postal administration.

The Washington City Postoffice is particularly to be commended for its handling of Christmas mail. Last Sunday, while the city enjoyed a day of rest, postal trucks were everywhere in evidence, and the postoffice was thronged with experienced workers, dropped like a red-hot poker as soon as could easily be delivered by the special crews knotted strings by the decimal system, and recruited for the Christmas rush. A month or more ago "mail early" pleas were broadcast, but the public, as it always does, put off mailing its packages until the last minute. and the postoffice was forced to work Sunday so that Washingtonians would not be disappointed in receiving gifts mailed from other cities.

> Tomorrow the postoffice forces will be cessful entitles them to the holiday as well postmaster to the extra truck driver, hired have a merry, merry Christmas!

INTERNATIONAL LAW.

A conference with delegates from the Hague beginning March 30 to codify international law. President Hoover has sent to Congress the draft of a proposed resolution which calls for American participation and appropriates $50,000 to cover expenses for the delegation.

Codification of international law relating to damages inflicted by riots, insurrections, &c., upon allens would, no doubt, be an invaluable aid to the mixed commissions dealing with claims of this kind. With the increase of American investments and enter prises abroad clarification of the law on this subject becomes important.

The effort to put international law on a more secure footing is an effort to eliminate innumerable causes of disputes that might lead to war. The first essential to settlement of conflicting claims is a body of law that is recognized throughout the world, definite enough to be understood and universally applied. This movement for codification of international law is one to which the United States can well give its support. This Government should be represented by the most able delegation that can be brought together.

SOCIAL PHENOMENA.

Appointment of a research council to study recent social trends in the United States was made possible through cooperation of the President and the Rockefeller Foundation. The survey will be financed by the foundation. The Government has no funds for research of this kind, but the cooperation of President Hoover lends prestige to the movement.

The report of the council should be most interesting. No other age has undergone such rapid changes as those that are now taking place. Never has a great population changed its habits of living, of working and of recreation to the extent the American people have changed in the last few dec-Social theory that was applicable to life in 1910 needs many adjustments to fit conditions as they are at present. Physical strain has been substantially re duced, and the average man's work taxes his nervous system more severely than his muscles. But the average man also has much more leisure time than he ever had before. Is he using that leisure in a way that counterbalances the strain of his work? Questions of this kind which will come be fore the council are innumerable. There is opportunity in this undertaking to lay a foundation on which future efforts for social improvement can be based.

INDIANS AS INVENTORS

From the London Times

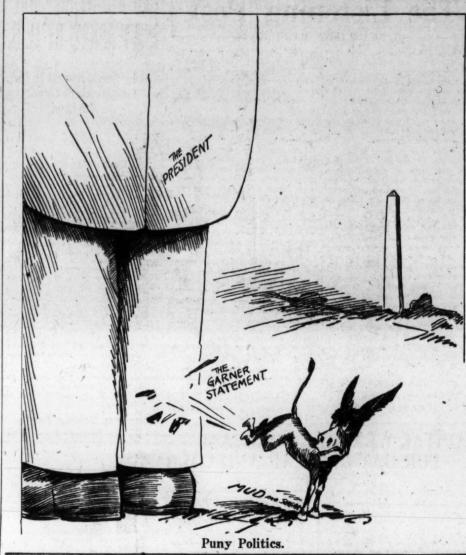

The Huxley memorial lecture of the Royal Anthropological Institute was delivered in the lecture room of the Royal Society at skiold on "The American Indian as an Inventor." The Huxley memorial medal was esented to Baron Nordenskiold.

The lecturer gave many examples of invenions and discoveries that must necessarily have been of original Indian conception, seeing that they were unknown in the Old World before the discovery of America. Among such he mentioned the use of poisonous manioc for food, tobacco and tobacco pipes, the rubber ball, rubber syringe, and the hammock; quinine, curare and other poisons; the use of cayenne pepper in the preparation of a poison gas employed in siege warfare; the welding of copper; various sorting and distributing parcels so that they musical instruments; calculating by means of Americans own motor cars.

He began by emphasizing the important part played by adaptation to extreme conditions of environ ment, and particularly dwelt on the substitutes for stone that in a certain region appeared to have led to the invention of an exgiven a holiday. He emphasized the importance of studying inventions that, in an entire continent, were found only within a small and restricted area, and as examples of this he cited the pump in Colombia (at the time of the discovery of America) and the chain among a small Stone-Age-living tribe in Matto Grosso. He further pointed out the importance of studying mino inventions made by Indians in post-Columbian had come to know from their contact with

of the universe?

In a world where all things are useful, one serving another and supporting another, it is incredible that man should live without

The grass gathers nitrogen from the air to enrich the earth, resists the ravages of wind and storm that would carry soil to the sea, and feeds the numberless cattle.

The cattle provide food for the beasts and rebuild the soil that deeds them; the insects fertilize barren blossoms and are food for birds; the birds scatter seed and serve as food; the fish nourish a multitude of creatures; the lowly earthworm provides the fertility on which all life depends.

Has man no place in the plan? It is obvious that the most intelligent of creatures is not here to be eaten. He preys on others and yet is useless to them. What is his destiny?

Reason rejects the suggestion that his one purpose is to keep himself alive—to spend his brief years at hard labor merely to feed and shelter himself, and benefit the universe in no way except by increasing the number of his useless kind.

Yet there is little he can do. His labors, discoveries and inventions benefit none but himself. His bridges, monuments and temples return to dust and the universe profits nothing. His greatest works are overshadowed by the mountains; his efforts to create beauty seem futile when a bird sings or the sun sets in glory. The universe would fare as well without him, Yet reason insists that his presence is proof of a high destiny, for all things serve a purpose and he is the highest form of life.

If he is here to assist in a divine plan, and serves no purpose that we can see, it is clear that he serves in some manner not reveales to men. In what manner? What is this service so obscure that men do ot perceive it? Well, what does man do that is lasting and beneficient in effect? He develops. Through the slow ages he makes himself wiser, nore ethical, more compassionate. That is all.

How, then, can man serve the divine plan? By developing himself to the utmost and bequeathing to posterity one more degree of excellence to hasten ultimate perfection.

The destiny of root and branch is to develop the fruit, (Copyright, 1929.)

Life Will Be Sacrificed If Ambu lances Must Crawl Through Consested Traffic.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The restrictions placed upon the ambulances of Emergency Hospital, which cause these vehicles to abide by all traffic regulations, will certainly have more harmful than bene-ncial results. It is very seldom that an accident occurs because of care-lessness on the part of ambulance

As for the noise caused by the siren on the ambulances, it is a small item compared with other louder noises in the city that are caused for no good reason at all. The police reserves and the fire department vereserves and the hre department ve-hicles can speed up for the purpose of protection of life and property. Why make the ambulances obey all traffic rules when answering mergency call? Often a five minutes may result in the death of the victim and if the ambulances must keep in line in snall-like traffic the result will be the death of some persons.

I hope the authorities will not wait until such a death sacrifice occurs be-fore restoring the right of way, over all traffic, to ambulances answering emergency calls. Let's not have ancase of closing the barn door after the horse is gone.

HELEN WILLS OMITS 'OBEY' IN CEREMONY

Tennis Champion's Wedding Scene Is Marked by Yule Decorations.

YACHT CRUISE PROBABLE

Berkeley, Calif., Dec. 23 (A.P.).— Helen Wills, who won the women's Helen Wills, who won the women's world tennis championship, captivated the hearts of two continents, painted pictures that won her praise in London galleries and was presented to the British King and Queen, married a wealthy young bond salesman here today because she loves him and tonight her name is Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr.

The Moodys were married shortly after noon at St. Clement's Episcopal Church, a modest little chapel that nestles at the foot of the Berkeley Hills, near the tennis courts, where nine years ago Mrs. Moody began a career that was destined to make her one of the best known women in the World.

Ceremony Simple and Sincere.

The ceremony was characteristic of the bride's career, simple and sincere, but with a cheerful overtone. The church had been decorated for Christmas. There was holly, evergreen, a bit of tinsel and over all a star. At the altar beneath these decorations Miss Wills and Mr. Moody kneit quietly while the Rev. Lindley H. Miller, the rector, read the new Episcopal service, which does not require the bride to "obey" her husband or the husband to "endow" his wife with all his worldly goods.

husband to "endow" his wife with all his worldly goods.

There was no music and no flowers, except the golden chrysanthemums intertwined in the decorations. Miss Wills wore a gray brown Patou suit, with accessories of crimson and blue. Mr. Moody wore a dark business suit.

The brief ceremony was attended only by Miss Wills' parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Wills, of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wills, of Berkeley; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, sr., of San Francisco, and the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Moody, of Burlingame.

New Husband is Nervous.

After the ceremony the party left by the front entrance and the newly-weds agreed to pose a moment for the photographers. Mrg. Moody smiled the least bit but would not speak for the talking pictures. Mr. Moody seemed less cheerful and a bit nervous.

seemed less cheerful and a bit anerous.

Instead of going to the Dr. Wills a home for a wedding breakfast as had been expected the young couple sped to a parked car downtown. They schanged cars and sped away, presumably south toward Los Angeles.

Despite denials of reports that the Moodys would spend their honeymoon down the Mexican coast on the yacht Galates, owned by Cyril Tobin, a friend, it was learned that the yacht recently had been gone over and had left for fan Pedro. The yacht was located in San Pedro harbor today and was outfitted for a cruise.

Gas Consumers Granted More Time to Pay Bills

The Public Utilities Commission resterday presented a Christmas gift to Washington gas com ners in an order giving consumers additional time within which to pay their monthly bills before being penalized for delinquency.

After January 1 consumers will have fifteen days instead of ten within which to pay their bills without having 10 per cent added to the total for delinquency. At present bills are rendered at the primary household rate of 81 for 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed. Consumers who fall to pay the bill within ten days must pay $1.10 per 1,000 cubic feet. Hereafter, under the order issued yeasterday by the commissioner, the period will be extended to fifteen days before the penalty is applied.

He does not think the forbidden books should be discussed in open,

He does not think the forbidden books should be discussed in open, session, Senator Smoot said, but he added that he will do so if the Senate refuses to accede to his request for a secret session. A secret session dealing with legislative matters is something that has been practically unheard of since Congress moved to Washington from Philadelphia.

Senator Smoot hopes to finish his examination of the 40 forbidden volumes during the quiet of the Christmas recess. However, he is somewhat handicapped in his work by the fact that several other members of the finance committee have become interested and are constantly seeking to borrow some of the books so that they, too, may be able to take part in the anticipated debate. Senator Watson (Republican). Indiana, the majority leader and the ranking member of the finance committee after Chairman Smoot, is particularly interested in this subject, according to Senator Smoot.

Senator Smoot called at, the White Youse yesterday to tell President Hoover that there was every reason to believe that there was every reason to believe that the tariff bill will be passed by the Senate and sent to conference by February 15. The prediction was based on assurances given him by members of the Democraticinsurgent coalition that no legislation will be permitted to displace the tariff measure when the Senate resumes January 6.

The attitude of the various factions in the tariff fight was made plain last week, when the bill was set aside temporarily for tax reduction, the French debt settlement and several controversial judgeship appointments. At the time Senator Simmons (Democrati, North Carolina, and leaders of the Progresive Republican group, have made similar statements.

Guests to See Yuletide Play By M. Claudel

Dr. and Mrs. Farrington Will Entertain at Chevy Chase.

By JEAN ELIOT.

HE French Ambassador and Mme. Claudel will witness tonight the presentation of M. Claudel's delightful "The Tidings Brought to Mary," as a feature of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Farrington's Christmas Eve party. An annual event, this is always the most imaginative and characteristic Yuletide celebration that Washington knows and M. Claudel's quaint mystery play, which tells the story of the Nativity in poetic language and in pictures of compelling beauty, is an ideal choice for this Christmas

Entertaining at the Chevy Chase School, of which Dr. Farrington is principal and which, of course, is deserted by its pupils at the holiday season, Dr. and Mrs. Farrington are wont to provide varied and colorful entertainment for their guests. Festivities always open with the singing of Christmas carols. with a group of waits leading the caroling but with the assembled guests joining in. Then, the play, different each year, but always in keeping with the Christmas spirit. After this comes a good old English Christmas supper, with whole turkeys and crisply browned roast pigs decking the long candlelighted table: and later still guests gather about a giant Yule log to tell stories into the small hours of the morning, many of them staying overnight to reassemble for breakfast on Christ-

The translation of M. Claudel's "L'Annonce Faite a Marle," which will be used tonight is by Louise Morgan Sill, a distinguished American woman who has been living in Paris for main."

Sill, a distinguished American woman who has been living in Paris for many years, who is herself a poet of no mean ability and who writes with equal fluency and charm in English or French—the same translation, I believe, which was used when "Tidings Brought to Mary" was produced in New York a few years ago. Mrs. Sill was to have been present tonight, but was unexpectedly called to New York.

Many distinguished Washingtonians will be guests of Dr. and Mrs. Farrington johight and, as is their custom. They are entertaining a Chritemas house party made up of guests from out of town. In this group are Dr. Henry Clay McComas, professor of psychology at Johns Hopkins University, and Mrs. McComas; Dr. Jesse Burks, of Colorado; Dr. George Mann Peck, of Princeton, and his son; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lisle, of Providence; former Representative and Mrs. Samuel Winslow, here from their home in Massachusetts; Miss Czernomska, of the fac-

World Wide Carol Sing on Air Tonight

Bach's Christmas Oratorio on Program. 15,000 in New York Chorus-Bridge Game. Post News 8:15 A. M.

of the Nation to the American people and to other nations of the world will be a series of the most elaborate international Christmas carol sing, the performance of the great Sach Christmas oratorio for the first time on the air, a half hour of Christmas carols by St. John's Church choir, and the midnight mass from the Shrine of the Sacred Heart are to be offered between 8 o'clock and ing Company.

The world's greatest air chorus, which will number more than 15,000 volces, will be presented from Madison Square Garden from 8 to 8:30 o'clock via WRC. The broadcast will be through WRC and a network, and also will go on short waves to foreign listeners. Soloists and choirs from 1.100 churches, singing societies, groups and civic clubs, the police glee club, the police and fire department bands and other musical groups will be heard in this program.

Immediately following the carol sing, a musical fantasy entitled "The King of Peace," will be presented through WRC and NBC system. ing Company.

One of the most notable programs in the history of the Eveready Hour will be broadcast at 9 o'clock when Artur Bodanzky, famous conductor, will direct the great Bach Christmas pratorio. An especially trained chorus of 50 voices and an orchestra of symof 50 voices and an orchestra of symphonic proportions will be under Bodanzky's baton for the broadcast. The magnificent music of the Christmas oratorio, although written by Johann Bach nearly 200 years ago, still stands as one of the most important works of the composer. It tells in moving music the story of the birth of Christ, the angels and the shepherds. His naming, and the visit of the Wise Men. The whole work is pervaded by the joyous feeling of Christmas, many of the chorales being familiar nativity hymns. The narrative, from the gospels of Matthew and Luke, is carried in recitation by a singer representing the Evangelist.

Eight nations will be represented with Christmas melodies in the R-K-O Hour tohight. Yule songs from England, Ireland, Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Russia and the United States will be featured.

Jay Velle, tenor, will sing an old English yule song. A French Christmas melody will song an Irish air, and Ciccolini, tenor of the Chicago Opera Company, will sing an Italian number. The Radeef Russian Quartet will sing one of its national airs, and a Spanish Christmas song will be sung by Willy Plaza and Reva Reyes. Marjory McKay will sing a German carol. The orchestra will present a special arrangement of "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear" and other selections, and the hour's program will close with a trio of carols by the ensemble.

Christmas carols by the St. John's Church Choir will be broadcast by WRC locally from Il 30 o'clock until midnight.

The midnight mass from the Shrine of the Sacred Heart will go on the air over a national network from midnight until 2:20 o'clock Christmas morning.

T December 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 1:50 p. m., from 6 p. m. to 7:15 p. m., and from 10:45 p. m. to 11:56 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a m. to 9:50 m., and from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. The invisible forces which affect our life on this date will be invigorating in character. Endowed THE famous American stage star, Ruth Chatterton, was born this day, 1893, She made her first big hit when she was starred in "Daddy Long-Legs" in 1914. Before that she played in atock companies. Other successes in which she has starred include: "A Marriage of Convenience," "Moonlight and Honeysuckle," "Perkins," "Frederic Lemaitre," "Come Out of the Kitchen" and "The Changelings."

In the season either, nor trying to Ritz you, nor anything like that . . but we just must do the typical fashion-writer stunt and really. my deah, Palm Beach you all over the place!

And anyway, if we'must admit it, Palm Beach or January bathing resort modes are always a prognoatication of the coming spring and summer for the rest of the world. One would think wouldn't one, that it would be the other way around? I mean, one would think that the modes of the aummer before would be worn in January in such places. So-0-0-0, Palm Beach bathing suits this year will, of course, hug the figure very closely—even those that are not knit. When there is a belt it will mark the natural waistline. Whenever it is possible, two, three or five colors will be combined in a suit—not so much colors as shades of one or two colors.

And, sh-h-h, the sun-tan or backless suits have fallen into quite some disgrace—that for something we never cared much about anyway!

The afternoon sleeve that ties back to become a cape! It's a very old idea of ours, you know, of years and years—and we thought you might like to see it again! The dress is of black velvet, the cleeves lined in gold, and tied with a gold cord which, when knotted and slipped through at the back, holds the cape part together. Try it with unbleached muslin—why not?

"A GENTLEMAN-FLAPPER."

DEAR Miss McDonald: Excuse the haste, but I must open my heart to you.

I am in love with a young man about ten years my senior. He loves me, too, but he is, one of these that chase after each new face and when he tires of the new ones he always comes back and tells me how much I really mean to him. I forgave him so often. But the last time I thought he went too far. Ever since, I've been going out with others, but I don't enjoy the others. I always think of him and I want to be happy once more. I very seldom see him with other girls and when he is out with other girls and when he is out with them, he never takes them where we might possibly meet. Do you suppose he is too selfash to be true to any one? What should I do? I tried inviting him to my home, but he was going to, but he heard I was to come when the service of the propose he is too selfash to be true to any one? What should I do? I tried inviting him to my home, but he was going to, but he heard I was to coming and didn't show up. Why does he act so? I guess his pride to the propose of t everyning. Ill be very thankful for any information you can offer.

Should you wait till you see him and "tell him all?" Now what do you mean by that? All what? Here he is, as you describe him, without depth, without anything to recommend him, and you are about to "tell him all?" Oh, why? Why should you tell your heart to the coat tails of this he-fiapper? Do you really want to some day find yourself the wife of a man of faulty emotional equipment? Do you want a weak, foolish, susceptible man as a husband? How long do you think you would enjoy his dutiful "returns" after his amorous expeditions? Some day I wish some of you girls would write me telling just what it is that makes you think you "love" some one man? Truly some of you seem to have in mind no particular qualifications whatever. Apparently he can be anything or nothing, if he dresses well, dances well and knows good njaces to eat (and sometimes if he does none of these things). ALUMINUM COOKING VESSELS.

OOD HOUSEKEEPING" reminds us that fifteen years ago they proved that food cooked in aiuminum vessels was not unwholesome. They proved it by employing Dr. Cushman and a bank of chemical test that could throw any light on the question. This experimenting and testing was done under the supervision of Dr. H. W. Wiley, and many people think that gentleman leans over backward when the addition of chemicals to foods is under consideration.

Recently they printed Dr. Cushman fare port, with a 1929 foreword written by Dr. Wiley. Dr. Wiley said agreed with Dr. Cushman that is cooked in aiuminum ware were plesome. He agreed with him in 5 and he stands now where he bed then, saying: "I entirely agreed and no scientific evidence has ce been produced to controvert a gle one of our conclusions. We ave found out a good deal about the arer minerals since 1915. Our foods contain copper, arsenic, iodine and various other substances in proportions unknown at that time. Some of them, once regarded as polsonous, are now thought to be wholesome, perhaps even necessary for good health. On the other hand, it has been found that some cases of food poisoning are due to mineral poisons which have found their way into foods through ignorance or carelesaness, but certainly with no criminal intent."

Taking all phases of the question into consideration, what has been discovered about minerals in foods since 1915 is enough to almost make a new science. And yet I agree with Dr. Wiley that "no scientific evidence has been produced to controvert a single one of our findings." The later investigators have found just what Dr. Cushman reported. It is true that some foods dissolve aluminum when cooked in vessels made of that material. When the metal contains a little copper, there may be traces of that metal in the food. But under no method of cooking does the amount of aluminum reach the poison level or anywhere near it.

The report states the amount of tin allowed in canned foods by the food inspection bureau, United States Department of Agriculture. This more poisonous than aluminum, yet, the dose of aluminum in foods cooked in aluminum vessels never reaches the dose of the aluminum vessel wall after certain foods have been cooked therein, has been harped on as proof of poison. Cushman showed that this was due to iron and was not poisonous. It develops where foods are mixed with hard waters or where an aikali has been added. It can be prevented by adding a little vinegar to the food before cooking.

The dark color of the aluminum foods as aluminuded cooking sour foods, salted foods, and alkaline foods They included coffee which has stood in the pot more than a day, and foods left cold in the pen hours or days after cooking.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S optimistic view that times are good—and with some of us they are no lowerse than usual, at that—evidently has spread to the picture industry, for here comes Loew, Inc. pounding the bass drum with a vigor almost unprecedented. for here comes Loew, Inc., pounding the bass drum with a vigor almost unprecedented. The Loew Theaters throughout the country, it seems, are launching a nation-wide "festival" of optimism and good cheer, under the slogan of "good times are here." If you scrutinize it closely, it is just another attack of double entendre. There are several kinds of "good times."

There can be no question that those who lend their support to the feature attractions booked into the local Loew houses—Palace and Columbia, in case you had forgotten—during the "January Festival" will have some good times, in the amusement sense. The bookings, so far as I know them, apparently assure it. At the Palace, for instance, I am led to believe that following William Haines and Anita Page in "Navy Blues," will be shown "This Is the Life," starring the Duncan Sisters, and Norma Shearer's latest vehicle. "Their Own Desires," with others of similar worth to cor plete the month. The Columbia offerings will be no less notable, with a series of "run pictures" in prospect.

The great motion picture producers are cooperating with Loew's to effect the release of nothing but exceptional pictures during January. Enlarged presentation programs are being arranged. Every theater will be decorated. In fact, it is conservatively estimated that the Loew theaters will make use of about 30 miles of display material. Merchants and industries are lending their aid in getting a flying start for 1930.

have heard so much about, what with its 77 stars, ensemble of thousands, natural color and what not. It was the original plan, in view of the stupendous size and cost of the production, and the wealth of entertainment it affords, to assess a $1 admission charge for this special showing, but thumbs were turned down on that idea and the regular scale of prices is to prevail, thus providing a real amusement bargain to wind up that perfect day.

CHRISTMAS STOCK BUSINESS DECLINES

Markets' Yule Experience Is Odd, Not Happening Since 1920.

TAX SELLING IS ACTIVE

New York, Dec. 23 (A.P.). - Wall treet today witnessed the rare spectacle of a declining stock market ushatreet today witnessed the rare spectacle of a declining stock market ushgering in Christmas week. Apathy rather than gloom, however, pervaded the financial district. The majority of shares closed 1 to 10 points lower, but trading slackened up considerably on the decline, only 3,491,770 shares changing hands.

Not since 1920 has the stock market failed to provide some sort of a builish Christmas cheer. During that Christmas peried, however, gloom hung heavily over the market. Steel mill operations were at half of capacity. Orders were being canceled and wages cut. At this period, however, there is but little concern over fundamental conditions, despite the sharp curtailment of industrial activity, and uncertainty as to how long the recession may last.

As an indication of sentiment in important quarters, James A. Farreli, president of the United States Steel Corporation, said of the steel industry today: "There has been no inflation in prices in inventories nor in capacity, and there is no apparent reason why 1930 should not be a good average year, with stable prices and stable wages." He predicted a aubstantial upturn in operations after the first of the year.

Precedent Allowed.

Precedent Allowed.

The continued selling was still largely attributed to selling for tax purposes and to professional bearish operations. In its present movement, however, the market is merely following precedent in entering into a steady decline after the first sharp raily from the low levels of the selling panic. With this in mind, operators for the advance have found little incentive, to renew activity of late. tors for the advance have found little incentive, or regw activity of iate. Freedent would seem to indicate that stocks will not break through the low levels of November, but with stocks approaching those levels, many traders wish to see this theory tested before extending their commitments.

Holiday currency demands, and withdrawals to meet year end payments, were reflected in firmer monetary conditions. Call money renewed at 5 per cent for the first time since November 21, and subsequently advanced to 5½, the highest figure since November 18. Rates for other tredit accommodations were unchanged.

tredit accommodations were unidhanged.

-Rails were notably heavy, reflecting uncertainty over the reception to be accorded the Interstate Commerce
Commission's consolidation plan.
Rail executives were wary of comment. New York Central, Lackawanns, Wabash, Delaware & Hudson, Atchison, and Chesapeake & Ohio were among issues closing 3 to 5 points lower. Pennsylvania sagged to
74. only 1½ points above the year's minimum.

Short Covering Causes Rally.

Short Covering Causes Rally.

Short covering toward the close provided a substantial rally and everal shares regained about half fier losses. U. S. Steel dropped to 36%, but closed at 159%, off only 7%. Among shares selling off about to 10 points, but reducing their bases to from 3 to 5, at the close, were. American Can, American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, A. M. Byers, Fox Film A. General Electric, Johns Manville, and ilmmons. Anaconda dropped 5½ points to a new low for the year at 471%, but closed at 70½. Willy Overland preferred touched a new low at 65½.

A few shares closed higher. American Telephone was heavy for a time, but rallied to close up about 3 points. Merchandising shares were steadler, lears Roebuck ending the day with a small gain. Newport Co. gained 7, and Western Union nearly 8 points. The commodity markets moved in parrow ranges. Wheat closed steady, secovering from early heaviness in esponse to a decrease in the visible supply. Corn, however, lost about ½ rent a -bushel. Cotton closed practically unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were irregular iterling eased a little, cables touching $4.88½. The French franc, however, touched a new high level for the year, with the cable rate quoted at 3.94%.

That Christmas Bonus

Will it go into one pocket or out of another! Or will it stay with you working and earning, giving you a steady income throughout the year to come?

Treat the bonus you get this Christmas as something apart from what you had expected and instead of spending it for something you may not need, invest it in a First Mortgage Note through Swartzell, Rheem and Hensey Company where it will remain intact and pay you 6%. Many of our clients have done this year after year and have built up a considerable nest egg without having missed it.

The First Mortgage Notes sold by this company have weathered the financial storms for over sixty years. The interest, payable semi-annually, comes to you promptly and unfail-ingly. Invest your Christmas bonus this year and the two interest checks you receive in 1930 will give you joy of two Christmases.

FOREIGN BONDS FALL NEW YORK CURB MARKET DURING INACTIVE DAY Turnover Is Smallest in Last Two Months: Rails Steady. INDUSTRIALS ARE DULL New York, Dec. 23 (AP.).—The bond market was irregular today in the dullest five-hour session in the last two months. Turnovers in domestic corporation loans were exceptionally small, and much of the business was in the foreign group, where a downward trend prevailed. With mone, at 5 per cent for time funds and 5½ for call loans commitments were exceedingly light. However, buying orders virtually balanced offerings and the result was net changes of inconsequential proportions. First grade rails held their ground, and the undertone of the entire list had a firm appearance, although United States Governments eased on the amallest volume in some time. Loans Sold for Profit Taking. Loans Sold for Profit Taking. The long list of Argentine 6s received considerable attention and the various maturities of the 1959, 1960 and 1961 loans were sold on profit taking from the levels attained on the bonds' recoveries of late last week. Most of the declines were fractional. Other Latin-American obligations showed a downward trend, with Brazilian securities fairly active. Prominent European governments were steady. Convertibles had a nervous day, reflecting the gyrations of the stock market. American Telephone 4½s traded within a 5-point range, saling down to 132 and then recovering to close at 136½, a net gain of two points. Chicago & Northwestern 4½s and Texas Corporation 5s, the only other active share feature debetures were firm. Rail Sales in Small Blocks. | Sample | S Rall Sales in Small Blocks, Rail Sales in Small Blocks. Most of the trading in the rails was in small blocks at only slight variations either way from the Saturday close. Fractional losses in Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s. Canadian Pacific 4s. 8t. Paul general 4s. Union-Pacific refunding 4s and Pennsylvania general 4½ a. were offset by advances in Central Pacific 5s. Erie 4s. New York Central 4s. Pennsylvania 5s. and 8t. Louis & San Francisco 4½ s. among others. Utilities showed a wider mixture of prices. American Telephone debenture 5s. North American Edison 5½ s. New York Telephone 6s and Western Union gold 5s improved, but declines appeared in Northern States Power 5s. Pacific Gas 5s and Detroit Edison 5s. Industrials were dull. Most of the selling in this group was in the low-priced issues. LOCAL STOCK EXCHANGE Sales Regular call, 11:15 a. m. pottal Traction 5s, $3,000 at 92, $500 at City & Suburban 5s. $1.000 at $1. # YULE SAVINGS CLUBS GAIN, STATES REPORT

FEDERAL LOANS DECLINE

Indications of a decided increase in the memberships of Washington Christmas savings clubs and the Christmas savings clubs and the average amount subscribed are coming from many local banks, the December bulletin of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, issued yesterday, states. Although the official questionnaire of the advertising committee of the association will not be returned by the banks until the Christmas club subscriptions are completed on January 15, it is confidently believed that both the number of subscribers and the amounts aubscribed will far exceed this year's total.

The advertising committee is work The advertising committee is working to raise the average deposit in the 1930 campaign and it is stressing the idea that the club method is valuable for the purpose of accumulating funds for every purpose. As it is, the Washington average exceeds the country-wide average by nearly 25 per cent, the committee states. Last year the total number of members in all Washington banks was 87.701 with an aggregate subscription of $7.470,000, making an average of about $85. of about $85.

Data of Federal Reserve Banks.

Data of Federal Reserve Banks.

Borrowings from Federal Reserve Banks decreased $25,000,000 during the week ended December 18, according to the weekly condition statement of member banks in leading cities issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board. The principal changes were an increase of $23,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and decreases of $12,000,000 at Kansas City; $8,000,000 at San Francisco; $7,000,000 each at Chicago and Dalias; and $6,000,000 at San Francisco; For all reporting banks there were increases of $11,000,000 in loans and investments; $86,000,000 in holdings of Government securities; $16,000,000 of Government securities; $16.000.00 in other securities; and $78,000.000 i in other securities; and $78,000,000 in loans on securities. Net demand deposits decreased $100,000,000.

Borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, in which district Washington is located, totaled $24,000,000. Total loans and investments amounted to $666,000,000.

Active District Exchange.

Active District Exchange.

Renewed activity was seen in transactions on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, when in both the bond division and in stocks there was more trading than on any day in the last week. Transactions in the bond division totaled $5,500, in five lots, and 300 shares of stock changed hands in 15 sales. Prices were unchanged in all transactions.

Capital Traction 5s were the leaders in the bond division, with one lot of $3,000 and another of $500 going at $22. Sales of $1,000 each in City Suburban 5s at 81, and Potomac Electric Consolidated 5s at 100, completed the bond transactions.

Commercial National Bank shares led in the stock division, with 105 shares changing hands at 255. Six transactions were reported in this stock, one of 60 shares, four of 10 shares and one of 5. Other stock transactions were the sale of 10 shares of Riggs National Bank at 530; 160 shares of Washington Railway & Electric preferred, at 98%; '50 shares of Capital Traction at 75; and 35 shares of Potomac Electric 5½ preferred at 105.

Freight Car Loadings Decrease.

Freight Car Loadings Decrease

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended December 14 totaled 923.-240 cars, the car service division of the American Railway Association announces today. This was a decrease of 13.585 cars below the preceding week, and a reduction of 40.428 cars under the corresponding week last week, and a reduction of worst cars under the corresponding week last year.

Miscellaneous freight loading totaled 319,721 cars, or 27,273 cars below the same week last year, while loading of merchandise less than carload lot freight amount to 245,002 cars, a reduction of 6,923 cars.

Coal loading amounted to 212,732 cars, an increase of 14,212 above the same week in 1928, while forest products loading decreased 9,150 cars to 52,376. Ore loading amounted to 8,886 cars, or a decrease of 1,509; coke loading, 11,664 cars, an increase of 739; grain and grain products totaled 43,969 cars, a reduction of 7,767; and live stock loading amounted to 28,908 cars, or 2,757 cars below the same week last year.

All districts, except the Pocahontas, reported reductions in the total loading of all commodities compared with the same week in 1928, but all reported reductions in the total load-ing of all commodities compared with the same week in 1928, but all districts reported increases compar-ed with the same week two years ago except the Northwestern, which showed a small decrease.

Lord Irwin Makes Talk.

Lord Irwin proceeded to the city, where an hour later he cooly replied to an address of welcome from the municipality and then opened the conference as though nothing had hannessed.

Dominion Status Is Goal.

In October Viceroy Lord Irwin stated on his return from England that the ultimate aim of British rule in India was dominion status. The action of Indian leaders in asking an opportunity to meet the viceroy today was construed as an offer of compromise.

New Delhi, India, Dec. 23 (AF.).—
Viceroy Lord Irwin of India narrowly escaped assassination today when a bomb exploded under the train in which he was traveling to New Delhi for a conference with Indian Nationalist leaders on the political future of India.

Little damage was done to the vice regal train, and no one was seriously hurt, though the explosion blew out 2 feet of rail. The cars behind the diner, under which the bomb went off, jumped the gap, and the train did not even stop on its run to New Delhi. One trainman was injured aligntly.

to an address of welcome from the municipality and then opened the conference as though nothing had happened.

The explosion proved inauspicious, however, for it was announced a few nours later that the negotiations between the viceroy and the Nationalist leaders had broken down on the question of dominion status for India. Motilal Henru, one of the Indian delegates, said after several hours of discussion that no agreement had been reached.

Additional importance was attached to the conference held today from the fact that the all-india congress opens at Lahore Thursday to consider what action shall be taken by the congress party. At the begin-hing of this year it announced that if dominion status was not granted to India by December 31 a campaign of civil resistance to British rule would be started.

Special to The Washington Post.

"Chuck" Collins, head football coach at the University of North Carolina for the last four years, informed athletic officials of that institution tonight that he had received a very tempting offer from Georgetown University and requested a meeting of the Athletic Council to consider the practicability of his release from his contract which has another year to run.

The feeling on the university campus has been and still is that Collins would make a mistake in going to Georgetown next year. At Chapel Hill he has a flock of veterans who are due to return, while it is well known that at Georgetown the material is scarce. It is telt here that it would take Collins several years to achieve the results at Georgetown that he has wrought at North Carolins.

rial to The Washington Post.

Stevens' contract will expire in another year, and while it seems certain that he will be urged to accept another, his friends believe that he has plans for developing his medical practice which will cause him to decline reappointment, although no official statement has been made by either Stevens or his friends. Cates admitted tonight that the liberal offer made by Georgetown for the services of Walsh was difficult for Yale to meet.

Yale has not paid such high salaries as many of the big universities, and has not gone into competition with many of them for the services of coaches.

The Yale total salary list is believed to be far below that of numerous larger American universities. Walsh said tonight that he had been given several weeks by Georgetown to consider the offer, and that his decision would not be made immediately.

of age, with blue eyes and light brown hair.

Knight proved one of the most successful riders over the Florida loop last winter. This season he again will go on to Miami when that meeting opens in mid-January. While this young Idaho lad will top the pilots of the year, jast season he wound up thirty-seventh on the list, Joey Inzelone, another Westerner, then was the head man in the riding show. Eimo Shropshire, Clarence Meyer. A. Robertson and Willie Garner were of the first flight in 1928.

Knight is only one of several jockeys displaying great form at New Orleans this winter.

Knight would not it is not all right. Knight would not rate as a greater jockey than Laverne. Fator, Mack Garner or Pony McAtee. The competition the lads meet over other tracks is not as keen as that provided over the metropolitan loop. The percentage of winners offers the true index to a rider's ability.

Knight's percentage is around 0.17, while that of Fator for the year is around 0.24 and Mack Garner's 0.21.

Opening Until Dec. 28 Pompano, Pla., Dec. 23 (A.P.).—
Opening of the scheduled two weeks race meet at Fompano Track has been postponed from Christmas Day to Saturday, December 28, said an ainnouncement tonight from Jimmy Monroe, track secretary.

Inability to get the track in shape by Christmas Day was given as the reason for the postponement. Since 1926, when horse racing at the track was discontinued after Gov. Martlithreatened to call out State militia to enforce antigambling laws, the track has been used for automobile racing.

Old Slip Up at Finish To Win at New Orleans Are Held Essential.

New Orleans, Dec. 23 (AP.)—Over a track that was exactly to his liking, G. Collins' Old Slip ran one of his best races and annexed the purse in the fourth race, which featured the card here today. Old Slip was ridden by J. McCoy, who rode a perfect race. Mose Goldblatt's Virado, favorite, was second, with Bramablau third. Five started.

To a good break. Bramablau was first to show, but Virado quickly ran up and into the lead. He was under restraint to the stretch and entered the last furiong with a good lead. However, Old Slip, which trailed the field for half a mile, began to move up around the turn. He was taken to the extreme outside where the footing was firm and the old horse taken plant of the extreme outside where the footing was firm and the old horse fairly fiew the last quarter mile. Old Slip wore down Virado and was up to win by a head. Virado beat Bramablau two lengths for the place.

The stewards suspended J. McCoy and T. May for the balance of the meeting—McCoy for rough riding in the fourth race, and May for the same offense in the fifth.

The living of these communities depends on the tourist business and the tourist business and the tourist business depends on the character of the pleasures afforded, among which betting and quaffing, or even guzzling, may be mentioned as essentials. The agriculturists of Florida place great dependence on their orange crop and, without wishing to imply a doubt upon their plety in upholding the great moral principles which the city population would trample upon if permitted to do so, I am curious to see what would happen if all persons in the U. S. A. who nowadays use orange juice admixed with gin for beverage purposes should take a view to eschew the juice of the Florida orange henceforth and use ginger ale instead. It is true that ginger ale and gin makes a pretty bad drink but gin is becoming pretty hard to take with anything nowadays.

A NOTHER player regarded as a distinct asset for the Mackmen is a pitcher, Lee Roy Mahaffey, who had two brief trials with the Pittsburgh Pirates, but seems to have found himself since these failures. Mahaffey, who is a big fellow, was an outstanding performer for Portland in the Pacific Coast League last year.

The tall tactician was so impressed by the work of Jimmy Foxx at first base he determined he must have another Marylander for the position and he got him in the person of Jim Keesey, although he had to send all the way to Portland. Oreg., for him. He will be a good man for the Athletics to have around, for Foxx can play any position if a capable substitute is available to relieve him at first.

A N EFFORT by baseball clubs in the South Atlantic Association to reduce the overhead by requiring players who are condidates for its teams to pay their transportation to the spring training camps will be an interesting experiment. It sounds like a good trick, if it can be done. Certainly the noise in the distance is not the enthusiastic cheering of the players. The proposal was adopted at the league meeting by a vote of seven to one. The original idea was sponsored by Frank Walker, president-manager of the Greenville Club, a former major league outhelder, who once sold himself to the New York Giants for a good sum.

Ball players' salaries do not begin until the season opens, so their training camp expenses, including transportation from their homes, is paid by the clubs in all leagues, except the Sally—and the Sally training season has not yet opened.

some American professionals, but the majority of the stars will not be concerned.

When he went abroad for the first time last spring. Horton Smith, the Joplin wizard, was a bit worried because he was forced to leave his steel shafts behind, but the tall youngster, after a poor start in Scotland, went on to France and left the French golfers dizzy with his sensational performances at St. Cloud, and all the time his steel-shafted clubs were in the baggage room of a New York hotel.

Bobby Jones has no steel shafts. The old-fashioned hickory is good enough for him, and a combination of hickory and bamboo, and the new...British ruling will not help the Adonis of American golf. Leo Diegel can take his steel shafts, or leave them alone, for Diegel in his inspired moments ascore with clubs discarded by an absent-minded caddy.

Horton Smith may be the greatest beneficiary of the amendment... Buoyed by the confidence his pet clubs give him, he will be a more serious threat in the 1930 overseas competition than was the case in 1929.

A MERICAN golfers are wondering now if their British golf cousins will later fall in line and approve the larger and lighter ball to be played in the United States, beginning in 1931. Many golfers on this side of the water are already playing the new ball regularly, on the ground that the big ball gives beter lie on the fairway and can be attacked with a wood club where the snug ball of other days would require an iron.

The Nationals also have auffered from Raas's "kick." On May 25, of the past season, Manager Walter Johnson's men had held the present world's champs even until the twelfth. With one out, up stepped Haas to the plate and the bail game ended ther and there when he drove one over the right field wall.

And so it went until the final game of the season. The Mackmen were playing the Yankees. Gordon Rhodes was pitching for the New Yorkers and he had blanked the Men of Mack for six frames, while his mates were giving him a 2-run lead. M ORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 28.
That the West Virginis University court team will be a formidable basket ball opponent for any of the sixteen different quints on the Mountaineer schedule this winter was revealed here when the proteges of Coach Francis Stadavold sortimaged for the dirst and last time before the Christmas vacation. With Capt. Marshall ("Little Elsepy") Glenn in his chasacteristic form, the varsity men swamped the freshmen.

Coach Stadavold had the Mountaineers practicing the various new formations and systems they have been working with since the first of the month, and the precision with which they were carried out in the first inter-squad game was a pleasing feature for the West Virginia fans to watch.

Morgantown, W. Va., Dec. 23.—The annual West Virginia University-United States Naval Academy wreating duel will be staged at Annapolis. March 1. Ever since wreating was inaugurated at West Virginia in 1921 the Navy grappiers have been on the card, and on only two of the occasions of the nine previous meetings were the Mountaineers victorious, those victories having been scored in 1926 and 1926.

Announcement, of the duel with Navy marks the public release of five of the proposed seven meets on the West Virginia card. Director Stansbury previously stated that the Mountaineers will open their season formsly in a cluster of matches with Waynesburg College here January 11. The week-end of January 12 and 18

The week-end of January 17 and 18 is tentatively open, but on January 25 Coach Steve Harrick will take his team to Columbus to meet Ohio State. February 1 is an open date and Western Reserve will be the second home foe here on February 8. No opponents have been announced for the week-ends of February 14 and 15 and February 21 and 22, but following the meet with Navy on March 1, the national intercollegiate championship Oklahoma A. & M. Seam will some here to close the West Virginians' schedule on the afternoon of March 8.

Philadelphis, Dec. 23.—Capt. Adrian Teaf and five or six other veterans form the nucleus of the University of Pennsylvania varsity swimming prospects for the coming season, with prospects brighter than usual. Teaf also rows on the varsity erew.

William Merriam, former Detroit A. C. and Midwestern coach, is starting his third season as tutor of the squad, and his son, John, is one of the leading backstroke and relay team candidates.

Teaf and W. C. Stinson will swim in the 50 and 100 yard sprints, while Ben Marshall and Walter Gandy are the best of the field in the 440 yards. Gandy, Jordan and Lusby are also good divers.

In the hagkstroke Merriam, Carl Peterson and Estes are coming along nicely, while Karl Page and Harry Kaplan are the best of the breast-stroke candidates. The relay team will be picked from Capt. Teaf, Stinson, Merriam, Gandy, Marshall and McConnell.

County Agent Sends Out Agricultural Report for Current Year.

YULE PROGRAMS ARE SET

PAIRPAX BUREAU OF THE POST, P. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va. Phone Vienna 64.

Derr, county agricultural igent, is sending a copy of his anual report to the members of the Fairfax County Agricultural Advisory Council. He especially calls their ttention to the work among the fruit growers of the county. There were 28 orchard demonstrations in pruning and spraying under the direction of specialists which he asserts were one of the important factors in the large production of so much first class fruit this year. There were also 25 spraying demonstrates ent results in the combating of the cab, blotch and rot. At least 75 per cent of the apples in the unsprayed schards were ruined by scab last

There were a number of demonstrations among the grape growers. The soil of this county, when properly handled, is said to be ideal for raising grapes. It was brought out that years ago when the manufacture of wine was common this county was one of the largest grape growing counties in the State and rowing counties in the State and wine.

Twenty-nine demonstrations were made in the various phases of home gardening work. The most important of these was the soil preparation, the use of lime and fertilizer testing. In all special attention was given to the combating of the bean beetle and other harmful insects. The agent attended several garden club meetings and assisted the organizations in planning their year's work. ions in planning their year's work are were fourteen demonstrations to the beautifying of home grounds. A number of forestry 4-H clubs we been organized in the schools here are nearly 100 children enroll. This work is being conducted to the children so the "farmers the future" will be familiar with e different uses and values of wood, which is a valuable adjunct of the

which is a valuable adjunct of the farm, the agent said.

There were ten demonstrations with corn, ten with wheat and five with oats. The average acre production of corn in the county was 29 bushels, but where the demonstrations were made the average production was 50 to 60 bushels per acre. A proportionate increase in the visit of wheat, oats and tree was conducted.

The agents tested nearly 1,000 acres et soil for acidity and the results were given to the owners free of charge. The lime needs of the land were explained. It was stated that thousands of dollars are lost annually by aswing clover and alfalfa seed on sour ground.

The choir of St. Anthony's Catholic Church at Baileys Cross Roads will sing Gounod's St. Cecile Mass at midnight tonight, in the St. James Catholic Church at West Falls Church. During the service Christmas carols will also be sung. The St. Cecile mass will be sung during high mass at St. Anthony's at 9 a.m. Christmas Day.

The children of Arnon Sunday School, at Forestville, will have a Christmas party tomorrow night. P. E. Goode will have charge of the music and the program has been arranged by Mrs. Harry Tavenner and Mrs. Afinie Bazzle.

Mrs. Afinie Bazzle:

The McLean Volunteer Fire Department, assisted by the various organizations of the community, has erected a Christmas tree in front of the fire engine house. It has been brightly decorated and will be lighted every night this week. At 5:30 o'clock Friday evening the fire department will act as hosts at a community vesper service. All the churches and organizations in the community have been invited to attend. Christmas carols will be sung, and Chief J. H. Beattle will make the address of welcome, with responses by H. R. Farver for the Community League: Gordon E. Smith for the Parent-Teacher Association; Orlando Whitley for the Eastern Star, and Walter Mallory for the Order of Fraternal Americans. The Rev. J. G. Sadtler will make a tenminute address. Scripture will be read by the Rev. A. H. Shumate and the prayer will be offered by the Rev. E. R. Snelling. The benediction will be said by the Rev. Harvey Dunham.

The Presbyterian Church at Clifton will give a Christmas entertainment tomorrow night. The children taking part in the program are: Catherine Wine, Stella May Detwiler, Samuel Doak, Joseph Kemper, Helen Detwiler, Marshall Doak, Catherine Robey, Jessie Fairfax, Ralph Franklin, Ethel Robey, Ferguson Fairfax, Viola Franklin, Mary Detwiler, Lillian Weaver, Mildred Clinton, Louise Detwiler, Dorothy Franklin, Carson Kemper, Elizabeth Spraker, Oscar Detwiler, Esther Davis, Maxine Robey, and Robert Spraker.
